"Loved it!" Gemma, England, June'09, Hostelworld

"Almost everything, the place is nice and value for money is correct. The staff is nice and helpful. Sometimes they should take more care about furniture that are "used" by travellers. Certainly it is not their fault !! Breakfast is good, and as much as you want it. Finally, my comments for this hostel is more than good, and surely I'll come back again (I've been there already twice times). As far promotion of HostelBookers, honestly I couldn't see it, but maybe it is in." Paolo, Italy, June '09, Hostelbookers

'Fantastatic place to be' "I completely agree with the review. I think there is just one missing thing . . . the food served there was out of this world, we try a tagim one nigh and the tea and the breakfast. . . absolutely great!!! This place is really THE place to be in Marrakech , its not cheap for being a hostel, but it makes sense to spend every euro there. Highly recomended !!!!" Amcarther, Worlreviewer

EQUITY POINT - METROPOL (MADRID HOSTEL):

"This email is to compliment the staff during my recent stay at Metropol Hostel in Madrid . From the moment I arrived the staff were kind and helpful. Anything I needed from information to guidance was given freely and with a good knowledge of the local area. The common areas were always clean functional and a great area to hang out and meet others. I stayed in a single with bathroom en suit. The room was extremely clean and functional the only improvement would be to put a fan in the room. During Aug even with the doors open the room was very hot making it hard to sleep. This was not my first choice of hostels I was booked into a different place (MAD Hostel) to begin with but when I arrived there the staff was rude and the place a mess. I found Metropol from a recommendation in Lonely Planet. Luckily they had room for me. When I return to Madrid I will stay at Metropol." Sean - North Port, Florida – USA
